Girl Bounces Off Christmas Pogo Stick, Sprains Ankle

By BILLIE ROBERTSON FA 8-7385
The members of the Strip join with me in wishing everyone a "Happy New Year." Now that Christmas is over and we have settled down to await the arrival of the new year, things have really been popping out here.

First of all, Jody Ramsey, of 221st St., got a new pogo stick for Christmas. Well, in the course of having a good time she is laid up with a sprained ankle.

Larry Robertson was riding a mule and the mule tried to go ahead of him. He is now sporting a broken finger.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bushak of 222nd St. decided to spend Christmas with a white Christmas atmosphere. They took their sons, Larry, John and Steve, and went to the mountains for the Christmas and New Year holidays.

I attended the children's Christmas party at the Harbor General Hospital on Dec. 24. Many of the Volunteers for Children were there.

It was surprising the amount of people who took time off from their busy day to donate a few hours to the benefit of the sick children. The Torrance Kiwanians gave a television to the children of Ward C-8. Santa Claus was there. The children received many gifts donated by many organizations of Torrance and Gardena. I believe this was the best Christmas those children have ever seen.

A 16-month-old baby was killed and three other members of its family were seriously injured in a two-car crash on Western at 182nd St. Monday evening.

Dead is Pamela Jo Adams. The baby, along with the other three occupants of the car, were thrown from the vehicle in the crash. Those listed as seriously injured were the father, Wayne Adams, 29; mother, Corine, 27, and a sister, Paula, 4. They are in Harbor General Hospital.

Santa visited Paula and left many gifts for her Christmas morning. Virginia Stoddard saw to that.

Some swell teen-agers took it upon themselves to carol to the residents of the Strip on Christmas eve.

They were led by Carol Fryback and accompanied on the guitar by Pat Health. Mrs. D. Health, Gail and Toni Kollas and Claudia Bass were the other carolers. They were served coffee, cake and candy at many of the homes. People were very kind to the girls.

Two persons standing by their parked car near 226th St. and Western Ave. received major injuries when they were struck by a car which veered across the roadway late Saturday.

Taken to Harbor General Hospital were Edward Lewis, 19, and Terry Leaca, 17, both of South Gate. Driver of the car, Ray Gardner, 46, of 1637 W. 227th St., was not injured.

Reservations must be made soon for the first annual father and son banquet which will be held Sunday, Jan. 6, at 1:30 at Normandale. Call Sam Houston for reservations.

Mrs. Peter O'Brien is heading the committee of mothers to cook and serve the dinner.

Two new babies have made recent appearances in the Strip. They are Eva Joyce, 6 lbs. 13 ozs. The proud parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Atkins, 1634 W. 214th St.

The other new arrival is a girl. She belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Coulter of 1607 W. 216th St. and they have named her Jean Marie. Jeanie weighed into the hospital weighing 7 lbs. 14 ozs.

More than 1000 handicapped youngsters, with their families and friends, were guests at a two-hour Christmas party last week. One of the guests was Cleona Woodruff, 4, who lives in the 1400 block on 222nd St.

Cleona has had polio since she was 9 months old, but never a sad look on her face. She and four other children were chosen to be with Paul Dietrich, president of the Crippled Children's Society, when he received the keys to a station wagon from Fred Chevruant, president of Los Angeles Press Photographers' Assn.

Santa Claus was there, of course, with a gift for each child and a Christmas stocking filled with goodies. Last week end she was trying to ride a bicycle with the help of her uncle.

Chest Funds to Be Allocated in March, Campaign Official Says

The nearly $10,000,000 raised in the Community Chest campaign, now being concluded on behalf of 168 health and welfare agencies, will be allocated in March, it is announced by Allen D. Harper, vice president of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co.

Harper heads the Chest's 214-member volunteer budgeting organization. In addition to a general budget committee, the organization includes 16 review committees, each of which confers with a block of agency representatives.

Budgets Studied
Board members and executives of each agency, in a series of 40 meetings running through February, are now discussing their financial needs with review committees. Allocations to each agency will be decided in nearly a score of sessions during March, Harper said.

The campaign fund with which Harper's group will work climbed past the $9,750,000 mark this week, according to a report by leaders of the fund-raising effort.

In his announcement, Harper said his volunteer organization includes representatives of every community, business, industry, labor organization, and profession which participates in the campaign.

Study Takes Time
He stressed the tremendous number of man-hours these "public-spirited citizens give to assure a wise and fair distribution of gifts' money."

Meanwhile, in the Harbor Area, work is continuing to garner the final $6323 needed to make goal and meet the Harbor's share of the $10,000,000 minimum needed for the 168 Red Feather community service agencies which depend on the Chest to continue their worthy work. The area now stands at 93.16 per cent.

Fire Aid Cited
Dramatic example the needs that these agencies fill is the great job done by Community Chest-aided Salvation Army in the recent big fire at Malibu and the least spectacular but no less worthy year-round help given by other child welfare agencies and hospitals; by youth-serving Boy and Girl Scouts, and by Red Feather family counseling agencies which work to prevent family crackerups.

Arthur O. Oises, Harbor Area campaign chairman, today urged that anyone who was not contacted by a Red Feather volunteer, speed his Community Chest check immediately by mail to the Harbor Area Community Chest Service Center, 1427 S. Pacific Ave., San Pedro, to help make up missing dollars still needed to achieve goal.
